

A Heart of Gratitude

Some of you are scared. Some of you are bored. Some of you don't know if you can make it one more day with the kids underfoot. Will I have a job? Will I lose my home?

There are a lot of questions on people's minds and we can't wave a magic wand and make it all go away. However I can tell you how John and I are handling this....

This world is not our home. Every day we count our blessings and there are too many to even track. We are blessed beyond measure to have been born in America - a free nation that is FULL of opportunity. We are creative and industrious and we know that there will be good things that come out of this.

People will be better prepared for emergencies. Industries are refining systems so they run smoother. People will take better care of themselves during flu season. And people are starting to ask - what is life really about? Maybe being home from the bars and focusing on protecting our families will draw us closer and make us realize what's important in life. We know we are... so if your future involves real estate. Great. If it doesn't because your plans or situation has changed, we're still here to support you in any way possible. Call us any time 315-695-6434. Our phones ring into our cells so we are still here for you!

Adolfi Real Estate Status Update

Q: Are we open?	A: Yes! We are working remotely.
Q: Has real estate halted?	A: No! Attorney's are working remotely as are banks and county clerks. Also our government vendors, who are considered essential to the finance industry, are assigning us properties and asking us inspect, list and market empty, foreclosed properties.
Q: Can closings take place?	A: Yes! If you have an essential job or a specific back to work date, your closing can move forward. Otherwise the bank has to reassess.
Q: Can you list a property?	A: Yes! Some people are choosing to list their home. Showings won't take place until after the ban is lifted.
Q: Is anyone buying?	A: Yes! We have sold some homes already making them contingent on an inspection after the ban has lifted.
Q: Is there any inventory?	A: Regular properties yes with the contingency... but currently the foreclosed properties are easier because we are allowed to video them for you. Also agents are doing FB live showings of them.
