

The '6' Top Places to Find FREE Lists of Bargain Properties and Create Wealth Beyond Your Imagination.

Many people report confusion and frustration when trying to find a list of bank owned or foreclosed homes on the Internet. Actually there're many legitimate FREE websites with bargain properties right at your finger tips. But as you begin exploring the Net for these sites you begin to find and then question the following:

- 1.) Foreclosure Subscription Sites - So many, they all look alike, which one can you trust and is it worth the $30 - $60 a month to subscribe?
- 2.) Is the Subscription Site's Listings Relevant? - Is the information stale? Are the homes still available? When can I tell if they are already sold? Are they even on the market?!!!
- 3.) Free Internet Sites - Where are they? Do they even exist? Can't find any? How many legitimate sites are there?

When beginning a search for the best bargains in the real estate market, Gov't owned, foreclosure or bank owned properties could be your very best friend. However the difficulty lies in finding this type of inventory. Getting a list should be easy...but it's not. When searching for a FREE web site, search engine results present a minefield of PAY Internet sites. Which leaves people even more frustrated because they're not sure if paying the monthly subscription fee is worth it.

Listed below are FREE, relevant, up-to-date government and bank owned sites that will help you find that bargain property which will become your new dream home or investment property.

Find FREE Lists of Government & Bank Owned Properties for Sale:

- HUD - www.Hudhomestore.com
- Freddie Mac - www.Homesteps.com
- Fannie Mae - www.Homepath.com
- Rural Development - www.Resales.usda.gov
- HUBZU - www.Hubzu.com
- AUCTION – www.Auction.com

Bonus Place - Your local independent banks have REO properties (Real Estate Owned) that they want to unload. Deal directly with the bank's Asset Manager. Get on their mailing list and build a relationship to a point where they contact you directly when a new foreclosed property becomes available.

ADOLFI
REAL ESTATE

To begin receiving your FREE bargain properties video tours e-mailed directly to you, grab your phone NOW and call Adolfi Real Estate at 315-695-6434